LAWYER SAYS FRANK'S ASSAULT IS INSANE

Statement of Attorney Who Defended Convict in Trial for Murder.

William Green, who cut Leo Frank's throat in the Georgia prison last Sunday evening, inflicting a wound that may prove fatal, is insane, according to Thomas H. Shanks, a lawyer of Columbus, Ga., who is here visiting the homefolks. Mr. Shanks defended Green when he was tried for a murder committed on the streets of Columbus in 1912. The murder was committed, Mr. Shanks said, and was the act of an insane man. Green was driving down the street, and, probably thru accident, drove up on the sidewalk. Three men standing nearby witnessed the accident and one of them laughed. A few minutes later Green walked back to where the men were standing, and applying a vital epithet to the three, asked which one had laughed at him. Green is about the language he had used and without warning Green drew a revolver from his pocket and killed the man. Mr. Shanks was appointed by the court to defend Green. He went to the jail to see him and informed him that he had been appointed to defend him. Green was uncommunicative. He remained in his cell apparently a shouter and declined to have anything whatsoever to say to the lawyer. After several attempts to confer with him, Mr. Shanks reported the matter to the court, advising the court that it was impossible to get any information from Green about the tragedy. Mr. Shanks, in making an investigation of the man's life, learned that some time before, while employed by a construction company and while working with a crew operating a steel crane, he was caught in the machine and hurled a considerable distance. In falling he suffered a severe injury about the head, and although he recovered, a deep indentation was left in the head almost large enough for one to place his finger. Mr. Shanks said that, in addition to the man killed by Green on the streets of Columbus and for which he was sent to the State prison for life, Green had killed one or two other men. Mr. Shanks says the man is unquestionably insane.

Obituary of Oscar Elmer Banks.
The following is taken from the Big Stone Gap, Va., Post. Deceased married a daughter of W. R. Willis of this city:

Oscar Elmer Banks was born in Lee County, Virginia, on October 31, 1887. He resided in Olinger, Va., during the early part of his boyhood days, and started to school there in about 1896. In 1899 the family was removed to Harvey, Va., where his father was storekeeper for an iron ore mining company. In 1900 the family moved to Big Stone Gap, Va., where he attended the public school. He was married to Laura N. Willis on May 11th, 1908. They resided at Big Stone Gap until 1910. He was in the employ of the Virginia and Tennessee Telephone Co., which company removed him to Norton, Va., in 1910. After a year in Norton, Va., the Telephone Company transferred him to Abingdon, Va., in 1910, as District Manager there. He resided in Abingdon until his death, which occurred on July 5th, 1915, at 8:15 a.m., in the Abingdon Hospital. He had gone to the Hospital on Saturday before his death. His death was quite sudden and a surprise to all, even the doctors did not realize that the end was so near. A breaking of the heart caused his death.

He was a good, kind, and loving father, husband, and brother, and what more could be said of anyone. He left a host of friends in Big Stone Gap, Norton, Abingdon, and in fact, everybody that he went and was known, he made friends. He was no employee of the Virginia & Tennessee Telephone Company for about 10 years.

"Moonlight" School Teachers Wanted.
The number of volunteer teachers in the "moonlight" schools, as reports come into the Literacy Commission, is higher than last year. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the commission, says that all teachers in Montgomery, fifty-two in Wayne, and fifty-two in Breathitt; six, however, in Anderson and 126 in Clay, are pledged to conduct moonlight schools.

Robert Henry, a farmer living near Lancaster, lost two calves as the result of eating Paris Green.

For Secretary of State.

Col. W. P. Walton, of Lexington, was here Saturday in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, and met with a cordial reception. We have had occasion before to refer to Col. Walton's candidacy and to commend him to our people as a true Democrat of the strictest integrity and honor, the highest qualities as a business man, and the fullest capabilities of discharging the important duties of the office. Voters should not fail to remember him when they mark their ballots in the primary. This is an office that is of much importance to a successful business administration of the State as the Governorship itself, dealing as it does intimately with the raising and taxing powers of the State and the production of the proper amount of revenue from the big corporations that are always seeking to escape their just share of the expense of government. Strangely, in the former elections, the people have paid no attention to the office of Secretary of State. It is presumed they know better now and will examine closely the credentials of any man offering for the place. The lesson has been dearly bought, but perhaps it is worth it. Col. Walton will be no man's figure. He will be his own man and will look out for the interest of the whole people. Nobody would dare to intimate he is not always on the level. He is the kind of man the people want, and when they find the kind of man they will have. Give Walton a whole-hearted support and Democratic will never reject it. —Cynthia DeMarest.

MASON'S GATE.

Miss Stearns Davis visited Miss Florida Bark Saturday.

Mr. Charles Daugherty, we are sorry to say is quite ill.

Mr. H. C. Hurst was at Stanford last Monday on business.

Miss Clelia Kirkpatrick of Danville, was with homefolks last week.

Points a Moral.

Miss Ninn Stinson of Maysville, found the name of J. W. Faught Andrews, Ind., in a new kitchen cabinet purchased by her family. She wrote to Faught as requested and this week they were married. M'CHESNEY SPEAKS TO SPLENDID AUDIENCE

Courthouse is Packed and Jammed Wednesday Night to Hear Temerary Candidate for Governor

The quiet and most representative audience that has gathered in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Secretary of State, and met with a cordial reception. We have had occasion before to refer to Col. The audience was made up of leading democrats, too, from every county in the state, and a number of years was present on Wednesday night when H. V. McHesney, of Frankfort, spoke here on behalf of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor.

There was a great deal of interest in the house when the mail was opened, both in the main mailroom and the post office gallery, and standing room was available to the post office, and the stamps canceled.

Mr. McHesney was a great speaker.

Louisville Woman Finds Speedy Relief By The Use Of Tanlac

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—Mrs. Frank Pettis, wife of the well-known assistant chief electrician of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, who resides at 800 Camp street, Louisville, is among the many women who have found speedy relief from serious illness by the use of Tanlac. Mrs. Pettis said:

"I have been in a nervous, rundown condition for some time. My digestion was very poor, and I had difficulty in eating solid foods. I was so depressed in spirits at times that I almost had a dread for the future. Tanlac proved to be just what I needed. The medicine acted like a general tonic on me. I am improved in every way, and I very cheerfully endorse Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Stanford by the Penny Drug Store.

Kentucky To Aid in Alfalfa Growth.

To enable the farmers of this state to raise alfalfa and crimson clover as successfully as the farmers of other states, Commissioner of Agriculture Newman has decided to purchase tons of bacteria culture to be distributed to the counties of Kentucky in proportion to their acreage. Application for bacterial culture must be made to the Department of Agriculture, which will be ready for distribution by August 10. It should be put into the ground by August 20. Only enough of the bacteria will be given to the farmer securing it to inoculate one acre of his land, and then each acre of the soil from this inoculated acre to distribute the bacteria not only over his own farm but to supply the community in which he lives. The production of alfalfa and crimson clover is on the increase in this state, as there is ten times as much alfalfa grown in Kentucky today as there was three years ago. Newman estimates that there are 25,000 acres planted in alfalfa this year.

New comes from Danville that a little daughter has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Joohnsen. The mother was Miss Alice Lyon, daughter of Mr. Evan Lyon of the West End. The young lady has been named Margaret John Johnson.

Dr. M. D. Early returned Tuesday night from Bullittsville, Boone county, where he had been called to preach the funeral of Mrs. R. C. Gaines. This is the third funeral he has preached for members of that family in a year. The family was a prominent one in Dr. Early's church at that place.

John Robins, the clever secretary of the Bodhead fair, was a visitor Wednesday. He was en route to the Danville fair and was accompanied by his friends, R. S. Shivel.

Jesse Walter went to Greenlawn Wednesday to take a position as guard in the Reform School. Mr. Walter's appointment is very pleasing to that gentleman's many friends, who are confident that he will make an excellent guard.

McCHESNEY THE MAN FOR VICTORY IN NOVEMBER

Temperance Vote In Country Districts and Mountains Will More Than Make Up For Liquor Men Who May Bolt—Elections of Last Few Years Prove This

The liquor candidates and the liquor men in their desperate efforts to stem the rapidly increasing strength of Mr. McChesney, and to prevent, if possible, what seems to be his probable nomination as the Democratic candidate for Governor in the August primary, have been industriously circulating the report that if he is nominated he can not be elected in November. They base this statement on the fact that the liquor men in the Democratic party would not vote for him, or for any other dry Democrat, if he is nominated. In other words, they admit that, although the liquor Democrats will take a very active part in the primary against McChesney, they will not hesitate, if he is nominated, to bolt his nomination and vote for the Republican ticket. There is some truth in that threat, for that is just what they have been doing for many years. Most of them do not seem to be bound, by any sense of honor or obligation, to support the nominee after they have taken part in the primary. Admitting to be true their purpose to bolt if Mr. McChesney is nominated, and that is what this talk amounts to when they say he could not be elected, let us see whether or not it is well founded.

The people of Kentucky remember very well that, in the Senatorial primary last year, the same kind of talk and threat was used against Governor Beckham. Mr. Stanley, the liquor candidate for the Senate then, as he is the liquor candidate for Governor now, used the same argument; so did the same liquor newspapers. What this argument amounted to in effect was that, if Beckham was nominated, the whiskey and beer Democrats would bolt him, while if Stanley should be nominated, he would get all of those votes and also the votes of the temperance Democrats, who would be too honorable and too good Democrats to bolt the party nominee after they had taken part in the primary. The result of that primary should be fresh in the memory of Kentucky Democrats. With all the power and wealth of the distilleries, the breweries and the saloons back of him, Stanley was defeated by a substantial majority. Beckham was nominated and a large majority of the liquor Democrats did bolt him in the November election. It is necessary only to look at the returns from that election to demonstrate it.

In all of the cities and liquor centers Beckham ran considerably behind the rest of the Democratic ticket. Even in Louisville, which he carried by a large majority, he ran nearly 2,500 votes behind the majority of the Democratic nominees for Congress. In Kentucky County, City of Covington, he received 1,850 votes less than the vote for the Democratic nominees for Congress, or, in simple words, the city of Newell (the city of Newell) he received 1,602 less in the Fayette County City of Lexington, which he should have carried by 1,200, he carried by only 157, and so it was in every city where there was a liquor vote. Even in Henderson County, Mr. Stanley's home, Governor Beckham ran about 200 or 250 votes behind the ticket, even though Stanley made a speech there before the election, ostensibly for the ticket, but it happened that in the five or six places where he did speak in that campaign, Beckham, the nominee, lost votes for Stanley's speeches were not intended to help him. Notwithstanding all of this defection and bolting, Governor Beckham won over the Governorial opponents, Governor Willard, by 32,200.

Stanley, the largest majority given to any Democratic candidate in 35 or 30 years. So, the threat of Mr. Stanley and his whiskey and beer supporters proved to be false and empty.

It is the same old trick they are trying to work again on the Democrats this year. But it will fail, out, the thinking or the ignorant. Mr. McChesney is undoubtedly the strongest candidate the Democrats can nominate for Governor. He will be elected beyond doubt; he may lose many very wet Democrats in the liquor centers, just as Beckham did last year, but he will more than make it up in the country districts and in the mountains. He is receiving the assurances of thousands of temperance Republicans and Independents that they will support him, if he is nominated over Mr. Morrow, who is well known as a wet man. It is no use for Mr. McChesney to argue that, because the Republicans will not support him, he should not be nominated. He is a candidate for Governor on a wet platform, the Democrats should do the same thing, and get into a race with the Republican ticket to see which can bid the highest for the whiskey and beer votes of the state. The people of Kentucky are not going to elect as Governor of the state a liquor trust-man, and Mr. Stanley might as well stand aside. The people know that their chance to beat the wet Republican candidate is with Mr. McChesney as the Democratic candidate. He will be nominated and elected.

Which Side Are You On?

The liquor men make a great cry about enacting laws that put them out of business. Fathers, mothers, wives and children weep over the sons, husbands and fathers that the saloons "put out of business." Reader, which side are you on? The liquor men have had the privileges and protection of our laws almost from the organization of our government. It is now high time to hear the cry of the innocent sufferers. Vote to give the people a chance to say whether or not they want Statewide prohibition. —Louis News.

Farm and Stock News

John Raines sold to Chris Gamie 60 stock ewes at $3. E. T. Pence, Jr., bought of John Rigby 32 stock ewes at $3.25. Harry Bill bought eight sheep from John Raines at five and a quarter cents a pound.

J. H. Manning, out on Route 1, has a ten-acre field of Sardin clover that is the finest seen in this county. It measures nine feet. Henry Hester had 20 acres of wheat to yield 30 bushels. The other portion of his crop, some 20 acres, yielded only about half that amount per acre.

Harve Povner, of Walton Flint, was in Pulaski county several days ago and bought a lot of sheep at $3.51 and some hogs at $7.

George Koger, Jr., of New Orleans bought of Alvin S. Fields of Birger, a compound mule for $275 and a Bohemian King mule for $500.

J. G. Barnard, of Point Level, recently sold an thoroughbred Kentucky Red Berkshire hog to E. Woods, of Paint Lick at 8 cents a pound—Lancaster Record.

George Poyner, of Walnut Flat, tells in the the greater portion of his wheat averaged 28 bushels, but a small field only measured up 15 bushels to the acre.

Caywood & McClintock, of Park, have purchased recently from Bourbon farmers 1,500 head of export cattle, the averaging from 1,350 pounds to 1,500 pounds, at prices ranging from $8 to $9 per hundred pounds. The entire purchase will represent an outlay of more than $181,000. The delivery of these purchases will be made in August, and the stock will be shipped to New York City for export. The same firm has made the following sales of stock cattle to Bourbon farmers. To John T. Collins, of North Middleton, fifty head of 1,000-pound cattle at $8 per hundred pounds; to W. M. Jones, of near North Middleton, forty-one head of 775-pound cattle at $7.25 per hundred pounds; to B. T. Mattox, of Bourbon, twenty-two head of 700-pound cattle at $7.50 per hundred, and to Warren Rogers, of Bourbon, eleven head of 950-pound cattle at $8 per hundred.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Stanford Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bending-down pains; they must stoop over, when stooping means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping fit, the saying well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidney ills that is endorsed by people in this locality.

Mrs. A. Camden, Preachersville, Ky., says: "I suffered intensely from kidney complaint. When I stooped, I could hardly straighten. Dark spots often floated before my eyes and my head pained me until I was crazy. A neighbor told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box. They helped me from the first and I am now free from kidney complaint."

Democratic Candidate —FOR—
Secretary of State

I wish I could meet every Democrat in Kentucky before the August Primary. That is impossible. I will, therefore, ask you to vote for me August 7, in the Primary, and again November 2, in the general election. Then come to see me in the Secretary of State's Office at Frankfort.

By my faithful services I will make you glad you nominated and elected me to that important office.

My record as a Democratic Senator from the 34th District (Morgan, Magoffin, Wolfe, Breathitt and Owsley counties) is approved by my people.

Be sure to find my name on the Primary Ballot. Then it will be easy to mark it like this:
